Pre-seed memo · Confidential · May 2026

The way real Americans co-own real supercars.

1 · The thesis in one sentence

The American HNW buyer who wants ~30 days a year in a Ferrari has only three options today. Two of them are wrong. RYDA is the third.

2 · The current options

Option	Cost	Days/year	What you get	What's wrong
Daily rental	$1,500–3,000/day Miami market floor (BluStreet, LUXX, AGEMBRAND)	5–10	Whichever car is on the lot that weekend	No relationship with the car. No status. Variable condition.
Solo ownership	$250K–$1M up front + $40–80K/yr carrying	365 (in theory)	A car that sits idle 90% of the year	Capital tied up. Operational burden. Depreciation eaten alone.
Supercar club	$30–80K/yr membership at mph club, Ark Exotics, Curated Selection	8–20	Rotating access to a fleet	You're a customer, not an owner. No equity stake. Annual fee whether you drive or not.
RYDA	$34K share + $7,080/yr all-in	~32	Real LLC ownership of a specific Ferrari, 1-of-10 share, professional ops	This is the gap.

3 · Why this gap exists

Pacaso did $1.0B+ in fractional second homes, validating that HNW Americans buy real LLC ownership of expensive depreciating-or-stable assets when the structure is clean and the operations are professional.

Marquis Jet did the same thing for jets in 2001 — sold to NetJets in 2010 — and educated a generation of buyers to think in fractional ownership terms for premium personal-use assets.

Nobody has done it for supercars. The unit economics are tighter than homes or jets, the operational lift is high, and the addressable market is narrower. That's why incumbents haven't built it. It's also why the wedge is defensible if executed precisely.

4 · The wedge buyer

Specific. Not “Miami HNW.” Specific:

- Age: 32–55
- Net worth: $5–15M, finance / professional services / entrepreneur
- Geography: Brickell, Miami Beach, Coral Gables, Coconut Grove, Aventura
- Current behavior: has rented an exotic 2–3 times in past 18 months, owns one practical car + one moderately fast car (e.g., 911 GT3)
- Underlying frustration: “I want the car often enough that renting feels stupid, but not often enough that owning feels rational.”

Stefano’s network at Evercore + the broader institutional-finance Miami footprint is one phone call away from this exact buyer.

5 · Why now

Three structural shifts converging:

Pacaso's institutional validation. $1B+ in fractional homes sold across 40+ markets. Same-shape regulatory framework: single- purpose LLC, member-managed, no securities posture. The buyer education work is done.

Miami's HNW concentration. Highest per-capita luxury auto density in the US. No state income tax. Year-round driving. Year 1 launch market is also the highest-conversion market.

The 911 GT3 generation aging up. Buyers who started with fast cars in their late 20s now want the next tier — Ferrari, Lamborghini, McLaren — without the full-ownership commitment profile their financial advisor is starting to question.

6 · How it works (5 steps)

01 Verify — Apply, complete identity verification. Valid US license, clean recent driving record, 28 or older. No accreditation required.

02 Choose — Browse the curated, certified pre-owned fleet. Every car passes a multi-point Pre-Purchase Inspection by the dealer before a single share is sold.

03 Co-own — RYDA forms a single-purpose LLC for up to 5 members per car (10 shares, 2-share minimum per person). Member signs the operating agreement and wires their share into escrow.

04 Drive — Book on the smart calendar. Each share unlocks ~32 days and ~3,200 miles a year. Concierge handoff includes door-to-door delivery within Miami-Dade.

05 Exit — RYDA sells the car at year 2–3 OR 60–75K miles. Proceeds split pro-rata. Need out earlier? Transfer your share to another verified member after the 12-month minimum hold. 3% transfer fee on member-to-member transfers.

7 · Unit economics — Ferrari 296 GTB

Per share, per year (steady state):

Line	Amount
Buy-in (one-time)	$34,000
Acquisition fee (5% one-time)	$1,700
Annual ops contribution	$7,080
Days entitled	~32
Effective daily ops	$221/day
Compare: rental at Miami floor	$1,500/day
Compare: rental at Miami ceiling	$3,000/day
Year-2 modeled exit (90% residual)	$30,600 returned

A 1-share holder spends $42,780 in Year 1 + $7,080 in Year 2 to drive a $340K Ferrari 296 for ~64 days across 24 months, then recovers ~$30,600 at exit. Net cost across the hold: $19,260 for 64 driving days = $300/day effective cost, all-in.

The same buyer renting at $1,500/day for 64 days pays $96,000. RYDA breakeven at ~13 driving days/year over the hold.

8 · Exit doctrine

The single most asked question on the marketing site: "how do I get out?"

Path A — Planned exit at year 2 (default for every LLC):

- 90-day notice to members before trigger fires
- 3 independent qualified bids gathered (auction houses, dealer- direct, broker network)
- 14-day vote window, 75% supermajority of membership interests required to confirm sale
- Title-and-escrow closing within 5–10 business days of vote
- Pro-rata distribution to member wallets within 14 days, K-1 issued at year-end

Path B — Early member-to-member transfer (after 12-month minimum hold):

- Member signals intent in dashboard
- Match against verified-prospect waitlist (28+, KYC-cleared)
- Direct buyer/seller price negotiation (no public ticker)
- LLC paperwork drafted by RYDA, OA membership-interest assignment, 75% supermajority ratifies
- Settlement through escrow within 1–3 business days
- 3% transfer fee paid to RYDA

This is the trust differentiator vs. supercar clubs (which have opaque cancellation policies) and vs. fractional-securities platforms like Rally (which were liquidity-trapped during COVID).

9 · Competitive landscape

Operator	Cost	Asset relationship	What you actually get
BluStreet, LUXX, AGEMBRAND (Miami daily rental)	$1.5–3K/day	None	A car for the weekend
mph club, Ark Exotics, Curated Selection (membership)	$30–80K/yr	Customer of the club	Rotating fleet access
Pacaso (homes only)	$300K+ per share	Real LLC ownership	A second home, fractional
Rally Rd, Carma (collector cars as securities)	Variable	Speculative interest	A trading position, not access
RYDA	$42K Y1 + $7K/yr	Real LLC ownership	A specific Ferrari, ~32 days, year-2 exit

There is no direct competitor doing single-purpose-LLC fractional co-ownership of currently-driveable supercars in Miami today. Failure modes of past attempts (Hagerty's DriveShare, etc.) were operational, not demand-side.

10 · The formula

We are:

- Pacaso (real-asset fractional with single-purpose LLCs)
- + Marquis Jet / NetJets (fractional access to expensive personal-use assets)
- + Saluda Bay (operational template for fractional boats)
- + CarMax (curated pre-owned vehicle sourcing standard)

— sharpened on a single, narrow buyer wedge that none of the four serves directly.

---

11 · Business model

Two revenue streams:

1. Acquisition fee — 5% one-time on share buy-in. At 100 members holding 2 shares each at $34K average = $680K LLC formations × 5% = $34,000 acquisition revenue per year of cohort formation pace. Scales linearly with cohort growth.

2. Annual management fee — embedded in the $7,080 ops contribution. ~$1,400 of the $7,080 (20%) is RYDA's management services fee. At 100 members × 2 shares × $1,400 = $280,000 ARR from cohort 1 alone, fully recurring.

Optional 3rd revenue stream — rental opt-in. Members can opt their unused entitlement into RYDA's rental pool. Revenue split 65/35 (member/RYDA). At conservative ~50% pool occupancy, this adds ~$1.5K/share/yr in member income and ~$800/ share/yr to RYDA take.

12 · Three-year financial plan

	Year 1 (Q3 2026 launch)	Year 2	Year 3
Vehicles operated	8	16	30
Member shares sold	80	160	300
Members (avg 2 shares)	40	80	150
Acquisition revenue	$272K	$272K (incremental)	$476K
Management ARR	$112K	$224K	$420K
Rental-pool take (optional)	$32K	$64K	$120K
Total revenue	$416K	$560K	$1,016K
Operating expenses	$980K	$1,100K	$1,400K
Gross margin (Y3)	—	—	~73%
Markets	Miami	Miami	Miami + LA + NYC

Plan reaches $1M+ revenue by Year 3 on Miami alone. LA + NYC expansion in Y3 unlocks the next 3-year ramp. Margin profile matches Pacaso's first-3-year ramp shape.

13 · Market expansion plan

Year 1 — Miami only. Highest density of HNW buyers + no state income tax + year-round driving. Single-market focus de-risks operational learning curve.

Year 3 — LA + NYC. Both have the demographic; LA also has the year-round driving climate. NYC adds garage/storage complexity that we'd prefer not to learn from in Year 1.

Year 4+ — vertical expansion. Boats vertical (Pershing, Sunseeker, Riva-tier) opens with Miami's existing yacht community. Planes vertical (turboprop / very-light-jet fractional) opens with ATL or DAL anchor partners. Both verticals re-use the LLC structure + operational stack.

14 · Team

Ryan Galli — Co-founder, CEO/CTO. Currently runs Fixed Income Executive Search at Odin Partners NY, placing senior front-office talent at banks and macro hedge funds. Brings the technical build

- go-to-market relationships at the buy-side seat. Bucknell Psychology.

Dave Thompson — Co-founder, CFO/COO. Manager, Private Equity Services at SolomonEdwards. 3+ years Healthcare M&A IB at Ziegler (analyst through senior associate). Diamond Capital Advisors prior. SIE + Series 79 certified. Brings the LLC structuring + capital flow + transaction discipline. Bucknell Economics.

Stefano Galli — Co-founder, CRO/CSO. 30+ years institutional equity markets. Managing Director Global Equity Sales at Evercore ISI (9+ years). Prior: Director of Global Equities Research Sales at BAML London, Senior Portfolio Manager at Artio Global ($75B AUM at peak). Brings the HNW network access at scale + senior sales gravity. Wharton MBA.

The team gap we know about and are addressing: automotive operations leadership. We are recruiting a Miami-based Director of Operations with luxury-rental or supercar-club experience to join Q3 launch. Identified candidates in pipeline.

15 · Where we are today (honest)

Pre-launch. Specifically:

- Marketing site: Live at ryda.pro since Q1 2026. ~75 pages.
- Founding-cohort applications: open at ryda.pro/founding-members.
- First-cohort outreach: Stefano's warm-network outreach commencing May 2026 against a target of 25 personal calls in week 1.
- First LLC formed: None yet. Formation triggered by 5+ wired refundable deposits ($5K each) on the same vehicle.
- First Ferrari sourced: dealer right-of-first-refusal conversations underway, target lock by mid-May.
- Operating account + escrow: RYDA LLC formed in FL. Opening Wells Fargo escrow account in parallel with first dealer ROFR.

The MVP test the next 14 days will run: Stefano makes 25 phone calls. Goal: 5 wires of $5K refundable deposit on the first Ferrari. Pass = form the LLC, buy the car, deliver the experience to those 5 buyers, document for cohort 2. Fail = re-pressure-test the thesis before raising institutional capital on a market that just rejected it.

A separate pre-seed-stage strategic audit (Claude Sonnet 4.6 + Codex GPT-5, both reviewing independently) on this exact question is included in the supplementary diligence pack on request.

16 · Risks

We are explicit about these because investors will find them either way. Better surfaced now.

Residual risk on year-2 exits. Modeled at 90% (10% depreciation across the hold). If actual residual lands at 75% on the first 5 LLCs, every member loses ~$10K/share, the trust narrative breaks, and cohort 2 cratering becomes likely. Mitigation: two-tier residual modeling on the marketing site, conservative defaults in the LLC's operating budget reserve, and dealer buyback agreements being negotiated in parallel with vehicle sourcing.

Calendar congestion / "resentment machine." A Ferrari unavailable on F1 weekend isn't a Ferrari. Mitigation: 10–12 designated peak events per LLC per year with rotating draft priority, off-peak make-good credit when bumped, published policy explicitly disclosed at signup.

SEC / state-securities posture. Co-ownership stakes are member interests in member-managed LLCs, not registered securities. The 2-share minimum per member keeps each LLC at ≤5 members which is comfortably below any "investment contract" trigger threshold. Mitigation: standing securities counsel (K&L Gates, retained), no public secondary market by design, no return promised in any marketing material, K-1 not 1099-B tax treatment.

Operational concentration in Miami. Single-market launch means no diversification of weather/event/supply risk. Mitigation: deliberate decision — single-market focus de-risks operational learning curve. Multi-market expansion not until Y3.

Founder-market fit on the operations side. Founding team is strong on capital + sales + structure, weak on automotive ops. Mitigation: Director of Operations hire pre-launch (in pipeline). Operational learning curve front-loaded into Year 1's 8-vehicle plan.

17 · The ask

$2.5M pre-seed / seed round.

Use of funds:

Category	Allocation	Why
Vehicle inventory + insurance reserves	$1.0M	First 4-6 LLC vehicle holdbacks pre-cohort-fill (paid back from cohort wires)
Founding team comp + DoO hire	$700K	18-month runway for 4 FTE
Miami operations + climate-controlled storage	$400K	Wynwood facility lease, build-out, telematics
Legal + securities counsel + LLC formation costs	$200K	First 10 LLCs formed, OA + MSA template productionization
Marketing + member acquisition	$200K	Stefano-led founder-network motion (no paid ads pre-launch)

Runway: 18 months at planned burn, gets us to $1M+ revenue

- 100 members + 8 LLCs + 3 confirmed Year-2 exits — the data set that opens the Series A conversation.

Round structure preference: SAFE at a $15M post or priced seed at the same valuation. Open to lead-investor terms.

Anti-dilution: None for Series A. Standard Series A preferences for the seed round itself.
